26 Post frost management strategies .....26

In this case study Amanda Mader, from Gumpara Vineyards, looks closely at post frost management strategies undertaken in Barossa Valley vineyards.

Big changes to Entwine .....30

The Australian wine industry's national environmental assurance program is under new management.

A new scientific tool for Australian vineyards .....32

A field-based rover has been developed that utilises light radar (LiDAR) to rapidly collect biological information to assist trait evaluation and assessment of management techniques.

2015 Vintage Report: Some hints of opportunity .....36

The total crush for the 2015 vintage was below recent averages and while the size was on par with 2014, there were better average prices this year. However, overall profitability took a slight hit.

Yield estimation software .....38

The value of an accurate yield prediction can't be understated. It has implications all along the supply chain – everything from transport and processing of the grapes, to wine sales, to packing, to shipping can be streamlined and improved.

Young Gun: Bleasdale's energiser bunny.....40

Sam Bowman is a part-time muso, part-time martial arts fighter and full-time viticulturist. He's the sort of character who can't sit still.

Weighty returns for growers from award winning 'Vinnovation' .....42

Truly sustainable viticulture must start at the roots ..... 51

Protecting winegrapes from mildew.....58

A better understanding of how plants resist attack by fungal and oomycete pathogens, and the successful introduction of durable and effective resistance genes into grapevines, will lead to a reduction in the chemical input.

The history of wine presses: Part 1 .....64

Simon Nordestgaard, a senior engineer at The Australian Wine Research Institute, describes the types of batch processing mode pressing equipment that have been used in the wine industry since the late 19th century.

64 Michael Glover: Wine philosopher back on home soil ..... 74

A free spirit, rebellious, eccentric. Michael Glover has been described in many ways. Perhaps the most fitting would be passionate. Early this year, the New Zealand born winemaker completed a 10-year stint at Bannockburn in Victoria and returned to his roots in Nelson.
