

REGULAR FEATURES

- 8 WINE AUSTRALIA (Andreas Clark): Building the foundations for a prosperous new year
- 10 WFA (Paul Evans): 2014 – a watershed for the Australian wine industry
- 11 ASVO (Paul Petrie): News from the ASVO's AGM
- 12 KEY FILES: All the fun of the fair – Part 2

EVENTS

- 16 SIMEI steps up for sustainable grape and wine production

WINEMAKING

- 20 Lighter bottles – 'green' and lighter on the hip pocket
- 24 Cutting edge Pinot – reducing skin particle size early in fermentation is the key
- 25 Sustainability a hot topic at De Bortoli

- 34 Upsurge in the 'green' factor at the home of the 'red stripe'
- 36 Winery wastewater project refreshes understanding of treatment processes – can we help manage biological wastewater treatment systems better?
- 34 AWRI REPORT: The role of trace metals in wine 'reduction'

VITICULTURE

- 41 Tamburlaine – a pioneer and still leading the way in sustainable viticulture

- 44 Sustainable viticulture – a Granite Belt perspective and a great educational opportunity
- 45 Long-term use of regulated deficit irrigation does not lead to a decline in vine performance
- 50 Sparkling wine research heats up in cool climate Tasmania
- 54 ALTERNATIVE VARIETIES: Malvasia Istriana

BUSINESS &amp; MARKETING

- 55 Sustainable practice in a botte – do consumers really care?
- 57 Solar power – lessons learned and the underlying business case for wine producers
- 60 Sensing a new horizon for the Tasmanian wine sector
- 62 Are Australian wines well known in China?
- 64 Chinese austerity measures slow wine imports
- 66 History of the WET and the WET Producer Rebate
- 68 The WET rebate – a producer's view
- 70 Keeping up with your consumers

WINE TASTING

- 72 Montepulciano