

Cover

With the onset of vintage 2019 in Australia, so to comes the increased risk of bushfires in wine regions and the possibility of leaves and fruit being exposed to smoke. Find out how to detect smoke taint in grapes and wine and what happens to this taint in bottle over time from page 42.

Features

- 16 A timely reminder of best practice downy mildew management
- 18 Regional differences in fungicide resistance
- 42 Understanding the effects of smoke taint on grapes and wine
- 46 Smoke taint in the bottle: how long will it last?

My view

- 8 Tony Battaglene: Key concerns around a mandatory code of conduct

News

- 5 From the editor
- 10 Clare Valley launches new draft strategic wine and grape plan
- 11 New California warnings for online and direct-to-consumer shipments
- 13 Proposed tax on alcohol to combat Australia's obesity crisis
- 15 International briefs

Grapegrowing

- 21 Robert White on vineyard soils
- 23 The functional diversity of predator arthropods in vineyards - natural enemies commonly found in association with native habitat and vineyards in South Australia

Regulars

- 6 What's online
- 6 Say that again
- 7 Winetitles Insights
- 33 Young Gun: Cameron Price
- 38 VineHealth
- 59 Behind the Top Drops
- 62 Ask the AWRI
- 69 Looking back
- 69 Calendar
- 70 Marketplace classifieds

- 27 Using airborne imagery offers a cost-effective tool in the management of vineyard heterogeneity
- 30 Industry fortunes heating up in southeast Tasmania
- 35 The northern frontier of grapegrowing - Denmark and Sweden: home to a burgeoning, cold-climate industry

Winemaking

- 50 Improving winery productivity and survivability
- 53 White wine phenolics: what compounds are there and which ones cause problems?
- 56 Twelve innovations from Vinitech 2018

Business & Technology

- 65 Australian wineries flick the switch on renewable energy: Australian Vintage and pernod Ricard Winemakers

Sales & Marketing

- 66 Penchant for purchase: engaging with DtC customers and keeping them

